

THE NATIONAL LAW JOURNAL
An ALM publication

DECEMBER 3, 2012

& LegalTimes

Winning formula

Everybody Wins! DC raised $12,000 recently with the support of eight firms during its sixth annual Lawyers for Literacy Trivia Challenge. Eleven teams with attorneys from Alston & Bird; Kirkland & Ellis; Morrison & Foerster; Sidley Austin; Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom; Troutman Sanders; Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati; and White & Case tested their knowledge. (Wilson Sonsini won.) The event funds the organization's mentoring and literacy programs. Firms also participate in the power lunch program, where firm employees serve as reading mentors to underserved elementary school children. Everybody Wins! serves more than 4,500 children at 40 public schools in the Washington area. "[The] money raised through team sponsorships will greatly benefit our programs and the low-income students that we serve," said executive director Mary Salander. —MATTHEW HUISMAN